STATEMENT OF SUPPORT
for Professor Luisa Antonioli

Professor Luisa Antonioli is a tenured professor of private comparative law at the University of Trento, Faculty of Law and School of International Studies.

She has done extensive research in several areas of comparative law, covering comparison of civil law and common law (in particular the role of case law), contract law and consumer protection, the rule of law, and methodological issues of comparative law. Moreover, her studies have also focused on EU law, in particular in relation to the development of EU law and its institutional features.

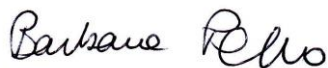

Her important activities in comparative law include teaching a variety of subjects in comparative and EU law, also in cooperation with social scientists and economists, both in Italian and English.

She is active in several Italian and international comparative law associations. In particular, she is a member of the SIRD, the Italian society for research in comparative law, since its establishment.

She has mentored many young people at master and Ph.D. level working on comparative law, both with a legal and an interdisciplinary background.

She has actively participated in the intellectual life of Italian comparatists for all her academic career, spanning over several decades.

For these reasons, we nominate Prof. Luisa Antonioli as an associate member of the Academy.
