Dr. Vernon Valentine Palmer
DPhil Oxon, Docteur (honoris causa) Paris
Thomas Pickles Professor of Law,
Co-Director, Eason Weinmann Center for International and Comparative Law
Former President & Founder, World Society of Mixed
Jurisdictions

Dear AIDC Members,

I am writing with great enthusiasm to recommend Professor Lécia Vicente for membership in the International Academy of Comparative Law as an Associate Member. Professor Vicente's outstanding legal acumen, visionary scholarship, extensive international experience, and ability to bridge legal systems across the Global North and South make her an ideal candidate for this distinguished organization. Her multicultural background and dedication to comparative legal studies align perfectly with the Academy's mission of fostering impactful legal scholarship on a global scale.

Academic Excellence and Scholarship

Professor Vicente's academic accomplishments are nothing short of exceptional. She earned her PhD and LLM from the prestigious European University Institute and her LLB (JD equivalent) from the Catholic University of Portugal, where she graduated first in her class, summa cum laude. Her postdoctoral research at the University of Illinois further strengthened her expertise in business and comparative law.

Her scholarly contributions are both prolific and influential. Professor Vicente has authored numerous peer-reviewed articles, book chapters, and is the author of the forthcoming monograph, Expressions of Ownership. In this book, she revisits her previous work and advances the field of comparative law by developing a matrix that compares legal frameworks across six countries—Portugal, France, Italy, Spain, the United Kingdom, and the United States—building on a previous peer-reviewed chapter, Defectiveness and Causation in Vaccine Liability Cases: The Jurisprudence of the Supreme Court of the United States and the Court of Justice of the European Union.

Her research has been featured in leading journals such as the American Journal of Comparative Law, Fordham International Law Journal, Southern California Interdisciplinary Law Journal, Tulane European and Civil Law Forum, and the International Journal of Law in Context. She has also been published by prestigious academic presses, including Intersentia, Cambridge University Press, Wolters Kluwer, and Hart Publishing. Across these publications, her approach to law as an infrastructure—highlighting its ripple effects across jurisdictions—demonstrates her ability to propose innovative policy solutions with a global perspective.

International Perspective and Professional Experience

Professor Vicente's career is distinguished by her truly global outlook. She has held academic and research positions at leading institutions across Europe and the United States, including:

University of Camerino (Italy)

Louisiana State University (USA)

University of Illinois (USA)

University of Helsinki (Finland)

European University Institute (Italy)

Fordham University (USA)

Universidad Autónoma de Madrid (Spain)

In addition to her academic roles, Professor Vicente is the Founder and Managing Director of the Global Law Observatory for Business, where she recently led a major study for the European Commission on AI contracting, comparing legal frameworks across EU Member States and the United States. Furthermore, she served as Adviser and Chief of Delegation of the Permanent Mission of the African Union to the United Nations at the 2016 High-Level Political Forum on Sustainable Development.

This wealth of international experience gives Professor Vicente a unique and invaluable perspective on legal systems and decision-making processes, significantly enriching her comparative legal research and its real-world applications.

Commitment to Comparative Law and the Legal Academy

Professor Vicente's commitment to comparative law is evident in her numerous presentations at international conferences, including the American Society of Comparative Law Annual Meeting, the Global Summit on Constitutionalism, and the Law and Society Association Annual Meeting. She has been invited to lecture and participate in conferences and workshops at some of the world's leading institutions, including UC Berkeley School of Law, Harvard Business School, Yale Law School, and the University of Chicago, among many others.

Her ability to engage with diverse academic and professional communities across continents underscores her influence as a comparative legal scholar, and her ongoing contributions promise to leave a lasting impact on the field.

Conclusion

Professor Lécia Vicente's exceptional academic achievements, international experience, and unwavering dedication to comparative law and the legal academy make her an outstanding candidate for membership in the International Academy of Comparative Law. Her participation would undoubtedly enrich the Academy's work and further its mission to advance comparative legal studies worldwide, with particular resonance in Europe, the United States, and Africa.

I am confident that Professor Vicente will be a valuable addition to your esteemed organization and represent a new generation of scholars poised to make significant contributions to the field. I wholeheartedly recommend her for membership.

Sincerely,

Vernon Valentine Palmer
